This new series, funded in part by the National Science Foundation, provides a balanced program for assessing student's mathematical performance at various grade levels. It focuses on a wide range of skills such as computation, patterns, geometry, and statistics. Each package offers ten to twenty tasks that provide students the opportunity to display their knowledge and skills as described in the NCTM standards. For each task there is an overview for the teacher, several renderings of typical work, and rubrics to assist in evaluating each student's work. Two packages are available for each grade level that include different but comparable tasks.

Wow! This is a powerful book that addresses a long-standing elephant in the mathematics room. Many people learning math ask ``Why is math so hard for me while everyone else understands it?" and ``Am I good enough to succeed in math?" In answering these questions the book shares personal stories from many now-accomplished mathematicians affirming that ``You are not alone; math is hard for everyone" and ``Yes; you are good enough." Along the way the book addresses other issues such as biases and prejudices that mathematicians encounter, and it provides inspiration and emotional support for mathematicians ranging from the experienced professor to the struggling mathematics student. --Michael Dorff, MAA President This book is a remarkable collection of personal reflections on what it means to be, and to become, a mathematician. Each story reveals a unique and refreshing understanding of the barriers erected by our cultural focus on ``math is hard." Indeed, mathematics is hard, and so are many other things--as Stephen Kennedy points out in his cogent introduction. This collection of essays offers inspiration to students of mathematics and to mathematicians at every career stage. --Jill Pipher, AMS President This book is published in cooperation with the Mathematical Association of America.
