Creative Nonfiction Submissions. We accept creative nonfiction that has all the sharp storytelling and concise language of fiction, but with the power of truth. We seek creative nonfiction that is controlled and fluid, gripping from the first paragraph until the last. Beautiful sentences are nice but simple language that tells an excellent story is far superior than elegant flourishes that go nowhere.

A complete guide to the art and craft of creative nonfiction--from one of its pioneer practitioners The challenge of creative nonfiction is to write the truth in a style that is as accurate and informative as reportage, yet as personal, provocative, and dramatic as fiction. In this one-of-a-kind guide, award-winning author, essayist, teacher, and editor Lee Gutkind gives you concise, pointed advice on every aspect of writing and selling your work, including:

- * Guidelines for choosing provocative--and salable--topics
- * Smart research techniques--including advice on conducting penetrating interviews and using electronic research tools
- * Tips for focusing and structuring a piece for maximum effectiveness
- * Advice on working successfully with editors and literary agents

A diverse collection of essays and companion interviews that offer insight into the inspiration, drafting, and revision process. With a title that suggests both the genre and the process of composing it, Creating Nonfiction is a collection of essays and interviews that aims to open readers' and writers' eyes to the formal possibilities of creative nonfiction. Included are memoirs, personal essays, literary journalism, graphic essays, and lyric essays, and the content is equally diverse, with topics ranging from childbirth to child labor, from dandelions to domestic violence. Whereas most anthologies leave readers to speculate about the evolution of each contribution, Creating Nonfiction provides companion interviews that offer insight into the inspiration, drafting, and revision process that produced the essays. Cheryl Strayed talks about how working as a reporter for her hometown newspaper influenced her later writings. Dinty W. Moore reflects on the delicate balance between observation and judgment when writing about subjects whose values differ from your own. Kristen Radtke explains how she decides between textual and visual images when creating a graphic essay. Although they offer an eclectic mix of voices and styles, what these essays all have in common is that ultimately, as contributor Faith Adiele observes, "truth becomes art." "The selections in Creating Nonfiction are fresh, diverse, and inspiring." — Lisa Knopp, author of What the River Carries: Encounters with the Mississippi, Missouri, and Platte "An excellent collection of essays by some of our best contemporary essayists." — Ned Stuckey-French, coauthor of Writing Fiction: A Guide to Narrative Craft, Ninth Edition

"Blackness is an art, not a science. It is a paradox: intangible and visceral; a situation and a story. It is the thread that connects these essays, but its significance as an experience emerges randomly, unpredictably. . . . Race is the story of my life, and therefore black is the body of this book." In these twelve deeply personal, connected essays, Bernard details the experience of growing up black in the south with a family name inherited from a white man, surviving a random stabbing at a New Haven coffee shop, marrying a white man from the North and bringing him home to her family, adopting two children from Ethiopia, and living and teaching in a primarily white New England college town. Each of these essays sets out to discover a new way of talking about race and of telling the truth as the author has lived it. "Black Is the Body is one of the most beautiful, elegant memoirs I've ever read. It's about race, it's about womanhood, it's about friendship, it's about a life of the mind, and also a life of the body. But more than anything, it's about love. When the sommelier and blogger Madeline Puckette writes that this book is the Kitchen Confidential of the wine world, she ’ s not wrong, though Bill Buford ’ s Heat is probably a shade closer. ” —Jennifer Senior, The New York Times Professional journalist and amateur drinker Bianca Bosker didn ’ t know much about wine—until she discovered an alternate universe where taste reigns supreme, a world of elite sommeliers who dedicate their lives to the pursuit of flavor. Astounded by their fervor and seemingly superhuman sensory powers, she set out to uncover what drove their obsession, and whether she, too, could become a “ cork dork. ” With boundless curiosity, humor, and a healthy dose of skepticism, Bosker takes the reader inside underground tasting groups, exclusive New York City restaurants, California mass-market wine factories, and even a neuroscientist ’ s fMRI machine as she attempts to answer the most nagging question of all: what ’ s the big deal about wine? What she learns will change the way you drink wine—and, perhaps, the way you live—forever. “ Think: Eat, Pray, Love meets Somm. ” —theSkimm “ As informative as it is, well, intoxicating. ” —Fortune
