The protagonist of Tobias Wolff's shrewdly—and at times devastatingly—observed first novel is a boy at an elite prep school in 1960. He is an outsider who has learned to mimic the negligent manner of his more privileged classmates. Like many of them, he wants more than anything on earth to become a writer.

Old School is a novel by Tobias Wolff. It was first published on November 4, 2003, after three portions of the novel had appeared in The New Yorker as short stories.

Old School (novel) - Wikipedia

Tobias Wolff makes his grownup narrator a writer very much like himself and brings him to a complex, loving reconciliation with his old school despite its flaws. Writing, Wolff suggests, can teach you not only a measure of self-knowledge but also the ability to open yourself to an imperfect world."

Old School by Tobias Wolff Plot Summary | LitCharts

Tobias Wolff's Old School is the story of an ambitious, idealistic, and insecure teenager who makes a serious mistake and eventually inherits the consequences. Wolff's unnamed narrator seems so very real that it is hard at times to remember that the book is fiction.

Old School | National Endowment for the Arts

Tobias Wolff 's novel, Old School can be understood to pick up from where This Boy leaves off. Just as in This Boy, the protagonist in Old School is never named. The narrator joins a prestigious prep school and feels out of place as the only Jewish and scholarship student.

OLD SCHOOL by WOLFF, Tobias - Steven Temple Books

Tobias Wolff's Old School is at once a celebration of literature and delicate hymn to a lost innocence of American life and art. Set in a New England prep school in the early 1960s, the novel imagines a final, pastoral moment before the explosion of the Civil Rights movement, the Vietnam War, the assassination of John F. Kennedy, and the suicide of Ernest Hemingway.

Old School (Vintage Contemporaries) - Kindle edition by ...

Although Old School is Wolff's first full-length novel, chapters of the book were first published as short stories in The New Yorker. Copy Cat. Much of Old School is autobiographical, and Wolff has specifically stated that the boarding school he attended did, in fact, hold a literary contest for the chance to meet a visiting writer. Like the narrator in the novel, Wolff would copy stories by famous writers in an attempt to experience what it was like to write a great work of literature.
